

TAME STASHA, YOUR PRODUCTIVITY NIGHTMARE

Could have sworn you knew where that file was saved?

Marketing and creative teams have a range of storage options at their disposal – personal laptops, desktops, company cloud storage and corporate file management solutions – making it hard to locate the right file when you need it.

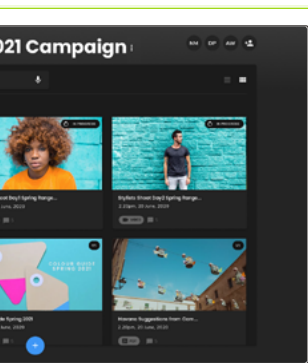

As a result, when marketing teams are delivering campaigns or stakeholders need a logo or an approved image, time is wasted trying to track files down. Even worse, when content cannot be found, it might have to be recreated. That's not good for creativity, productivity or version control.
